The official prize list for the duckpin events in the A. C. B. A. tourney was announced last night by the local management. Of a total prize money distribution of $7,312, $4,140, or approximately 57 per cent will be divided among the small pin winners.

Officials believe it significant of a bright future in store for the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, that in this, the second annual tournament, the prize list is nearly double that which was awarded in Boston last year. The prize distribution in the duckpin class alone nearly equals the entire money carried off in all classes last year.

Teams finishing as low in the standings as thirty-one, will receive a return equal to their entrance fees. No 1 team will divide no less than $300 "velvet."

In the doubles class, there are thirty-three prizes, ranging from a first prize of $100 down to $10.

The first fifty-five individuals in the standings will receive awards equal to at least to their entrance money. A winner in this class will carry away a check for $75, while the last thirteen are to receive $5 bills for their trouble.

A $50 bill has been hung up as top money in the duckpin "all events," with eight more awards in this class. Following is the complete list:

In the tenpin events, $2,501 was divided among the top thirteen teams, the top thirty doubles, the sixty-two high individuals, $140.25 going to "all events."

With but a small candlepin entry, only $21.25 was split up in this class. Of this amount, $131.25 was returned to teams, $120 to doubles, $130 to singles and $15.25 in "all events."

To night is "Ladies' Night" in the tourney. Ten teams composed entirely of women rollers will roll the pins.

The two belated line-ups of the Westons and the C. & P. Telephone Company quint, have been announced, as follows: Westons, Miss Wright, Miss Hazard, Miss Ryfield, Miss Levy, Miss Bontz, and Mrs. Weston, captain. C. & P. Telephone Company, Miss E. C. Lodge, Miss M. Lauterbach, Miss Grace Chaplin, Miss O. Mogal, Miss S. A. Belt, and Miss Katherine Belt, captain.

The teams have been assigned to the alleys in the following order: (3) Bureau No. 1; (4) Bureau No. 2; (5) Central alley team; (6) National Capital alley team; (7) Arcade Ladies; (8) Royals; (9) Westons; (10) C. & P. Telephone Company; (11) Murphy's South-east Stars; (12) Kane, Sons & Co.

The entrance fees of these quint were devoted to a special group of prizes to be awarded to the winning teams of this division. The team to finish first will receive a check for $25, second $20, third $15, fourth $10 and fifth $5.

Present indications point to one of the largest galleries of the tourney, a number of special reservations have been already made.

Starting at 2:30 this afternoon, the closing day of the tourney, John Gengler will be seen in duckpin doubles paired with H. Servas. At 4 o'clock he will take the alleys for his final appearance, in the duckpin singles.

Gengler's Hoboken quint last night, through brilliant shooting, rolled themselves into first place in the tenpin class, with a grand set of 2,867. P. Schultz, rolling anchor, pulled a wind-up game of 245, piling strike on strike until amid a storm of applause it was announced that through his strike-out act he had secured too money for his team.

doubles with the big pigs, also set a new mark. The "Cohn" rolled 690 while his teammate rolled 561 for a total of 1,250. In the tenpin singles, Gengler, amused the large gallery with fancy shots, making little or no attempt to surpass the high mark, after getting away to a poor start.

The big pin singles' mark, however, was broken yesterday; H. E. Fiehl, of the Imperial team, accomplishing this feat through constant shooting. The new record is 600, nineteen pins greater than was spilled by W. V. Thompson for the previous mark.

The candlepin doubles' mark also went by the board in last night's competition. Pohler and McKee, of the Miah, Murray, of Boston, set new record of 655 for this class. McKee bested his partner by two pins.

BRECK STARS WHEN CHEVY CHASE HAS HARVARD ON COURT

Washington Performer From Pacific Coast, Makes Excellent Impression in Game.

That, in Henry C. Breck, the young Californian, who has recently joined local tennis ranks, Washington has acquired a player of exceptional ability, was the substance of much favorable comment on the part of a large gallery which saw the newcomer work against Harvard yesterday at Chevy Chase.

Breck's play was distinctly of the slashing variety, so often identified with the Pacific coast racketeers, and seemed to lack the inaccuracy which usually attends this style of game. His overhead play was most effective while his forehand strokes were vicious and surprisingly accurate.

Not the least impressive feature of the Westerner's play was the aggressive manner in which he stepped into the strokes, and the supreme confidence he seemed to feel in his ability. That he is a finished performer in every department of the game was obvious to those who saw him take the measure of G. Colker Caner in the singles, and later hold up more than his share in the doubles. His service was exceptionally fast, and accurate, and gave Caner much trouble, while his mid-court volleying was excellent.

In addition to his brilliant racket play, Breck displayed lightning footwork, covering all points at one and the same time, and seldom being passed by the net or by a lob. He exercised excellent judgment and seemed complete master of his court at all times.

Breck had been slated to play with Connie Doyle in the doubles against Williams and Pfaffmann, and not until the last minute was it announced that he had been omitted from the first team, and would face Caner and Rand, with J. Ushur Moorhead.

But Doyle, who was sent in the support Connie in the headline attraction, had just recovered from an attack of grip, and was decidedly off his game. The feature of this match was the marked headwork displayed by the former national champion, Williams, together with a beautiful exhibition of team play on the part of the collegians.

The two sets were replete with net-play, volleying on both sides being good. Doyle lobbed frequently in an evident attempt to throw the Harvard pair off their invincible net game, but with little effect.

Pfaffmann, former interscholastic champion, a newcomer on the team, showed to advantage. His over-anxiety, however, cost his team a number of points, as he frequently accepted chances which would have gone for sure outs.

The outstanding features of the initial match between Connie Doyle, playing No. 1 for Washington, and R. Norris Williams, 3d, were Doyle's service, and Williams' mid-court volleying. The match was played in a gusty wind, which drove the clouds of dust across the court and threw both men off of their games. Connie slipped no less than fourteen aces over on the collegian; Williams seeming absolutely unable to handle his service at times. But few sensational recoveries were made in this match. Williams was forced to so three sets to defeat the local racketeer; Doyle being at one time within two points of the match. This was in the second set, when he held the end of a 5-4 count, with the first set to his credit. With the loss of the match staring him in the face, Williams cut loose, and was never again in danger.

The results:
R. Norris Williams defeated Connie Doyle 4-6, 6-5, 6-4. Williams posed with Pfaffmann, defeated the two Doyles in straight sets 7-5, 6-3.
H. C. Breck, although temporarily stumbling in the second set, won easily from G. Colker Caner 6-4, 6-3.
Ennard Moore defeated William Rand in straight sets 6-7, 6-4. Pfaffmann, of Harvard, defeated Dudley Morgan in straight sets 7-5, 6-3, and H. G. M. Kellner, of Harvard, defeated John Hancock 5-7, 6-3, 6-3.

Harvard Men Silent About Numbering Team

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 19.—When it was brought to the attention of P. D. Haughton, coach of the Harvard football team, today that the Yale players will be numbered next fall, Haughton stated that he did not know what Harvard's final action would be.

The Crimson always has held the number system in disfavor, the point of view being that the numbers help accustom to follow the team's formations and plays.

The matter, however, will not be decided by Haughton, but by the members of the Harvard football committee, which has been stronger against the use of the numbers than the head coach.

The fact that Yale will use the numbers next season may make some difference to Harvard, but the unofficial opinion today of several members of the committee was that Harvard was likely to continue without the numbers, regardless of what Yale intended to do.
